Did you know?

Every old building has a good ghost story to go with it, and the University of Arizona's historic Old Main and Centennial Hall are no exception. It is said that Centennial hall was built over a site where a duel took place in the 1770s involving two men fighting over the woman they loved. When the woman tried to stop the fight she was trampled by horses and killed along with one of the men fighting. Herman now haunts the stage at Centennial while Matilda haunts the back loft.
